PLAIN TALK TO CARD-PLAYING MOMEN

EVANGELIST SAYS MOTHERS MUST ANSWER

Sufficient Money Taken in to Pay Expenses Amounting to About $2,250—Six Hundred Women Attend 41 Prayer Meetings Held Yesterday.

The wide interest manifested in the evangelistic meetings was clearly shown again last night. As early as 7 o'clock every seat under the big tent was occupied and a large crowd standing on the outside, the sides of the tent being raised so they could listen to the songs and sermon.

The town of Warrenton sent over a delegation of some 75 or more. The railroad men of the city and the letter carriers were also present, each coming in a body.

Evangelist Smith announced that no more nightly collections would be taken as a sufficient amount had been raised to pay the expenses incurred, nearly $2,250 in all, it is reported.

He also stated that prayer meetings were held yesterday in 40 homes in the city, were attended by 643 ladies, and that it was the greatest record he had known in all his experience. As he referred to it his face beamed with pleasure and he spoke with much apparent gratification.

At the conclusion of the song service, prayer was offered by Rev. Edgar Carpenter, of Grace Episcopal Church, following which Professor Cole sang as a solo "Life's Railroad to Heaven." Evangelist Smith then took as his text for the evening the fifth chapter of Mark— called the chapter of incurables—in which occurs the story of the man with the devils, the woman with the incurable disease and the girl that was dead, whom Jesus healed and brought back to life.

Said the preacher: "The first of these persons we would have sent to the insane asylum, the second to the hospital and the third to the grave. But not so with the Great Physician.

"I ran across a man in Leesburg, who said he didn't believe in a personal devil. If that's so who is carrying on his work in Alexandria? I got a letter from a lady here in the city telling of a girl who has just entered motherhood by the wrong door. Who did that devilish work? Who caused the arrests made here last Saturday night? Some say there are lots of little devils around. If that's so then there must be an old one too.

"If you say there's no devil then I say you've never tried for 24 hours to live according to the Bible. The devil is not a fool—he's master of his game and you can't fool with him without going down.

"Why, the devil would turn Alexandria into a universal hell if he could have his way! But I'm here tonight to tell you that whatever devil possesses your life, Christ is still lord over devils and can give you power to become victor over the devil. And however brilliant you may be, you'll never be the man or woman God wants you to be until you take your stand for Christ.

Here the evangelist told the story of the redemption of John Callahan, now at the head of a big mission in New York city, but formerly a prisoner in Joliet, Ill., who preaches nightly to a thousand or more bums.

"I don't care if you're the worst man in Alexandria, Jesus can cure you!

"The woman in the text had tried many physicians without help. And some of you women here have been trying about everything. You've tramped to every church and revival you could hear of—until most of your religion is in your heels. If preaching could have saved you, you'd have been saved forty times. What you need is Jesus Christ. Not these meetings, or the choir or ministers—but Christ, the great Physician. He has never lost a case!

"While my father was holding meetings at Ocean Grove, N. J., 25 years ago, a lady told him there was not an evangelist in the country that she hadn't heard, that she had attended meetings and all that but that her heart was still aching. He told her to cut out tramping to meetings so much and get down on her knees with Jesus.

"One moment of contact with the Son of God and the woman was healed.

"We're willing to try everything under the sun but Jesus Christ. I don't care how bad a man is, Christ can cure him, Listen! Jesus Christ is lord over devils and over death—an all-sufficient Savior who can cure every disease. If you have a Christ who can beat that, men, tell me, about him, for I'd like to preach about him!

"The noblest thing a man can do is to kneel down and say my God, my Savior! But I have more respect for Bob Ingersoll than for some of you men. Why? Because you say there is a God and then turn on your heel and forsake him.

"And I can't understand about you women. Before Christianity came you were only beasts of burden, and yet how you treat Christ! I can't for the life of me see how a woman with children can turn her back on Christ.

"Many of your homes in Alexandria are today nothing but kindergartens for gambling with cards! Listen! You mothers, you're going to have a lot to answer for! For there's no difference between gambling for prizes in the home and for money somewhere else!

"It will be better that a millstone were tied around your neck and you sunk in the sea than for you to stand in the way of the children!

"Will you, if you have a desire for better things, let that desire rule? Won't you come?"

While the big audience and choir sang, 32 persons went forward and grasped the preacher's hand, thus making a public confession of their intention to lead a Christian life.

Notes and Announcements

A meeting for women only will be held at the tent Thursday (tomorrow) afternoon at 3 o'clock, and another meeting for men only is scheduled for Sunday at 3 p. m.

A union service is announced for 11 o'clock Sunday morning, to be held at the tent.

If there are any who doubt the veracity of the words of the lady who said, "Alexandria never has been so stirred up over religious matters as it is today," they should have seen the attendance at the ladies' prayer meeting held this morning at 10 o'clock in Lee Camp Hall Ladies were present to the number of 242 and several were turned away for lack of even standing room. Considerable enthusiasm was shown in the way the ladies, led by Mrs. Wm. J. Morton, sang the hymns and responded to calls for voluntary prayers. It was highly inspiring to all in attendance.

MUSICALE

Among those who are listed to sing at the musicale to be given next Wednesday night, Oct. 4, in the Elks' Home, for the benefit of St. Mary's Parochial School improvement fund, are George O'Connor and Dr. Dickinson of Washington; Mrs. Harrie White, Mrs. Robert F. Downham and Miss Katherine Brill.

The foregoing is but a partial list of the participants and the complete program for the affair with the names of all who will take part will be announced early next week. The presence of the foregoing singers is sufficient to warrant a capacity audience.

In the Gazette's account of a raid on a disorderly house on Commerce street one night this week it was stated that J. T. Pettit was found therein. This was correct, according to the docket of the Police Court. Marshall Pettit is generally known by the name of Joe, and a number of readers of the Gazette have erroneously supposed he fell into the dragnet. He has requested the Gazette to set its readers right.

There were two cases before the Police Court this morning. Officer Smith arraigned a strange negro who gave his name as Robert Jones on a charge of drunken and disorderly conduct. The officer stated that he found the man drunk with one of his arms bleeding, he having been attacked by some one who used a fork as a weapon. He was fined $5. WASHINGTONIANS FAVOR US.

Prominent Men Believe That Armor Plant Should be Located Here

It is stated that the members of the Retail Merchants' Association of Washington have picked Alexandria as their second choice in the event that it is apparent that their own city will not be selected as the site of the $11,000,000 armor plant. This body has appointed a committee to investigate the matter as the result of a resolution to that effect offered by M. A. Leese, vice-president of the organization, instructing the members to throw their support to this city in the event of Washington not being considered elegible.

The above is in line with the spirit of the prominent Washingtonian with whom the Gazette representative had a conversation last night. This gentleman said:

"I've been away from home for several weeks and I was surprised on my return to find the status of the Armor Plant site affar. I hear, on good authority, that those who are in the know state that they fear the claims of Alexandria and Philadelphia more than they do those of any other city. Personally, in the beginning, I did not think that Alexandria had even a look-in, but from what the fellows tell me now it seems to me that she has a mighty good chance if the people over there will get busy and properly present the advantages they undoubtedly can offer.

"In so far as the claim that if the plant was located in Washington it would derive the benefit of being close to head quarters is concerned, that is all popycock. You know what happens in most government offices, don't you?—the circumlocution and red tape, I mean. Why, I know of once case in which the desk of the two men who received the mail for two separate divisions of one department were only twenty feet apart. The addresses for the two divisions were so much alike that mail was frequently sent to one when it was intended for the other. Either one of the officials could have tossed a wrongly addressed letter across the room to the other fellow. Did he do so. Not on your tintype! He dictated a letter to the party who wrote wrongly and returned his letter with instructions as to how to get to the man at the desk twenty feet away. It didn't make any difference whether the correspondent lived in New York City or San Francisco.

"And so the claims of the people here in Washington in relation to the value of having the plant right here are just what I have called them. and I think that you're far and away better able to handle the labor situation over there in Alexandria and provide better housing facilities than we are here in Washington. This city was never intended to be a commercial or industrial city, and among a great many people there is a strong feeling against trying to make it one."

The meeting of the full committee of those working to bring the plant here has been postponed from eleven o'clock tomorrow (Thursday) morning until two o'clock in the afternoon. This is a most important meeting and it is urged that all those belonging to this body will be in attendance.

BOOSTERS

Do not forget the meeting of the Armor Plate Plant Committee in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

THE RAMBLER.

Paragraphic Points Picked up by Our Man on the Street.

An old darkey servant in a Philadelphia club, is reported to have said, "the more important man's always kindest to us humble folks."

The old man's observation was correct. There is one thing that the gentleman will always extend to his inferiors in social position, and that is courtesy. When you find men or women who are overbearing or rude to one class while they fawn upon another you may write them down as cads. Social position is largely a matter of chance, in any event, Our ancestry was determined by chance. Had our fathers or mothers been ten minutes late for some meeting, or have failed to go to a certain social gathering, or a hundred and one other things, they would not have met the other necessary to You. And so, while it is well to be proud of those who have given us the advantage of a good name and social position, we have no reason to feel [illegible] in anything for ourselves other than our own personal achievement. And we simply appear ridiculious in the eyes of well-balanced people when we do otherwise.

Frankly, I'm not personally in favor of hurrah methods of religion, but I do believe that they are necessary to meet the requirements of some natures. And if I cannot approve I certainly will not oppose anything which holds promise of good effect upon others.

A day or two ago I heard a man make the assertion that he wasn't going to 'go out to the front' in the tent meetings because so many of those now in the church are not living up to their professions. If that is his only reason he is is just as sensible as the man who refuses to believe there are any fresh eggs because, inadvertently, a farmr's wife once put a nest egg into a dozen of reputed fresh eggs which were sold to him.

Church membership is made up of human beings. Necessarily a proportion of these are faulty. It is a matter for surprise that so few show up so badly at times. But the men and women who do not live up to their professions incur a heavy responsibility. Personally, I believe that hyprocrisy is an unpardonable sin. The people of this world judge others by their everyday lives. The men and women who have been converted or re-energised during this revival will be very closely scrutinised by their neighbors. They will be watched to see if they pay all their old debts, shake their old bad habits, are kind where formerly they were cross, and so on. If there is no apparent change in their life then it doesn't matter at all how loud they sing or pray on Sunday—people won't and can't believe in them. Another man can't build confidence in you in himself. It is up to you to do the building.

And—this is the big point—the faulty professors of religion will provide the enemies of the church with weapons with which to assail it. The period which follows a revival is a most important one. In many of the cities in which Billy Sunday has spoken thousands have been converted by the workers be inspired and left behind them. And these conversions have been largely the result of the example of genuine christians rather than that of preaching.

COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS LAST NIGHT

SOME SURPRISES IN RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Oscar Phillips to Take Place of J. E. Shinn as Police Commissioner From the First Ward, and W. H. Helmuth Succeeds Harry Kirk as School Trustee From Third Ward.

There was a comparatively short session of the City Council last night, although a large volume of business was disposed of and a joint session held for the purpose of electing certain city officers. It may be remarked incidentally that the new city fathers have not inherited a propensity for much talking which during the past few years had been an epidemic in the two boards. They realize that they have been elected by their constituents to transact business, and, they show a disposition to make debate secondary.

Oscar Phillips was elected a police commissioner from the First ward over J. Edward Shinn, incumbent, by a vote of 15 to 7.

For school trustee from the Third ward William H. Hellmuth was elected over Harry D. Kirk, incumbent, by a vote of 16 to 6.

Other school trustees who were re-elected without opposition are Gilbert J. Cox, First ward; S. L. Monroe, Second ward; T. Clifton Howard, Fourth ward.

Dr. Edward A. Gorman, city health officer; Dr. Walter A. Warfield, physician to the poor, were also elected. On recommendation of Dr. Gorman, Dr. James J. Garvey was re-elected deputy health officer. William J. B. Duncan was elected dispenser of medicine from the Western district to fill the unexpired term of Henry Callan, who tendered his resignation at last night's meeting.

Board of Aldermen

All the members of the Board of Aldermen were present when President Marbury rapt to order.

But two papers were introduced. Mr. Harrison presented a resolution looking to the codification of the city laws, which was referred to the committee on general laws. The last codification of the laws of the City Council was made by the late William F. Carne in 1874.

Mr. Fitzgerald, of the light committee, presented a favorable report on the oridnance providing for a contract with the Alexandria County Lighting Company for furnishing the city with electric lights, which was adopted by a unanimous vote.

A resolution, adopted by the Common Council at the last meeting providing for a joint session of the two boards for the purpose of electing certain city officers was read.

Mr. Wilkins favored postponing the joint session until the next meeting, in order, he said, to get rid of "peanut politics," as there were so many candidates for the positions to be filled. These aspirants he said are good democrats, but he thought the result would be more satisfactory should Council conclude to lay the matter over two weeks.

Mr. Brill said all the candidates were good men, and the proposed election had been sufficiently advertised. He failed to see what good could be accomplished by postponing the election.

The motion to concur in the action of the Common Council was adopted by a vote of 6 to 2—Messrs. Wilkins and Fitzgerald voting no.

The action of the Common Council was concurred in upon all papers sent in, and later the Aldermen retired to the chamber of the Common Council for the purpose of participating in the joint session and upon their return adjourned.

Common Council.

Fourteen members of the lower board were present.

A resolution of Councilman Bryan that city council give its approval to the movement inaugurated having for its object the securing of the proposed government armor plant for this city and that council do all in its power to aid the movement was unanimously adopted.

Councilman Pohls' resolution appropriating the sum of $,825 for increase of salaries of members of the police department to take effect January 1, 1917, was referred to the committee on finance and police.

It provides that the salary of the privates shall be $75 a month instead of $60 which they now receive. The salary of the chief is fixed at $100 and the first sergeant, $90; second sergeant, $85; third sergeant, $80.

Councilman Lawler introduced a resolution that property owners be allowed a discount of five cents on that part of the city taxes they will pay December 1. Mr. Lawler stated he introduced the resolution at the request of many property owners. It was referred to the finance and general laws committees.

A petition asking for immediate relief from the "public nuisance" drinking fountain at Cameron and Royal streets, signed by a large number of property owners living in that vicinity was referred to the joint committee on streets and general laws.

It is alleged in the petition that the fountain is dangerous to life and property and effects the life of man and animals who drink from it since it is used for a wash basin, laundry and bath tub because no one appears to have supervision over the same.

Council recommended that the names of the following ten residents be sent to the state department of game and inland fisheries for the purpose of selecting a game warden for this city from: George Ayers, J. Owen Lynch, Everett Roberts, Otto Voglegesang, Cecil Hufty, Dutton Wood, James McCauley, Herbert Knight, J. Sidney Douglas, Charles Bell. (Mr. Ayers states that his name was used without his authority and that should he be selected he will decline the honor.).

An ordinance regulating lights on automobiles and motorcycles and fixing a penalty for the violation of the provisions, introduced by Councilman Bales, after some debate was referred to the committee on general laws and streets.

It provides that all vehicles in motion or at rest after sundown display, at least, one light in front and one in rear visible for a distance of 200 feet, at least. For the first offense of its violation a fine of $1 to $5 can be imposed and for the second offense a fine of from $5 to $25.

Mr. Bales explained that he drew the ordinance and its object was against blinding lights now used by motorists.

Resolution of Councilman Bryan appropriating the sum of $10,000 for schools for fiscal year, 1916-17, was referred to committee on finance and schools.

An ordinance of Councilman Bales making it unlawful to drive over a road that may be closed or remove

PRAY FOR THE BROTHER.

It can be sincerely said by all who composed the large assemblage at the gospel tent last night "that it was good for them to have been there." Rev. Gypsy Smith, Jr., delivered a forceful discourse from the gospel narrative of the Saviour clothing and placing in his right mind a dangerous lunatic who had been running wild and naked amid the tombs of the Gadarines.

A pathetic incident occurred which sent thrills through the entire audience. It was a touch of nature which makes all the world akin. A well-known resident of this city who has struggled hard and for years to convalesce from a chronic weakness, realizing the impotence of his own feeble efforts to uncoil the folds of a boa constrictor which has been slowly crushing out his manhood, asked the church to unite in prayer for his deliverence. The unusual part of the story is that he insisted that his name be announced before all—he wanted the sympathy and invocations of the brethren, which they heartily united in tendering.

Many years ago a fashionably dressed young woman was passing along the street of a large city. She saw a man lying in the gutter with his face upturned to heaven. He was suffering from the bite of a serpent more terrible than the deadly cobra of India. The good woman glanced at the man and taking a lace handkerchief from her pocket placed it upon his face. May we not suppose that angels looked upon the act with blended tears and smiles?

We sympathize with all who are struggling against any weakness. Many persons have no propensity to fool with this dangerous reptile. Unfortunately many others have and they deserve the sympathy, aid, and prayers of good people.

In our school days we used McGuffey's series of readers. Among the lessons in that used in the fourth grade was one entitled "The Worm of the Still." It is an allegory, the meaning of which is sufficiently plain even to children. Within a month this worm will exist in the shade, if it exists at all in Alexandria. It will not be seen coiled in show windows but will retire to dark places where it will have to be sought by those who enjoy its company. Its fangs will be as deadly as ever, but we will be less liable to tread upon it than now.

POE'S HOUSE MUST GO.

There is but faint prospect for preserving the old building at 1501 East Main Street, Richmond where Edgar Allan Poe had his office when he was editor of the Southern Literary Messenger. Building Inspector Butler's opinion that the crumbling old structure is past repair and that the walls must be torn down as a measure of public safety is supported by the opinion of the best engineers in the city, who agree that the walls will have to be rebuilt from the foundations.

There was for many years a country house in Maryland near Baltimore in which Poe is said to have written "The Raven," his chef d'ouvre. It was an unpretentious farm structure. It was here, according to tradition, that the Muses took possession of the poet's flighty brain and brought to the birth a poem which has been read and reread by thousands ever since it first appeared. The surroundings of the room in which he found himself one night "in the bleak December" were in no wise suggestive of the wonderful flights of imagination through which he passed while writing his epic.

SHOULD CODIFY LAWS

Alderman Harrison last night introduced a resolution providing for the codification of the laws of the City Council. Similar measures have been at times introduced in one or the other board during the past third of a century, but, like resolutions for erecting signs on corners of streets, have been put to sleep in committees never to be disturbed.

It is said that the Koran of Mahomet was originally written upon shells, stones, pieces of bark, etc., and that these were collected by a Nestorian monk who placed the largest shell, stone or fragment of bark first regardless of the proper continuity in which the "prophet" proclaimed "revelations."

The laws of the City Council are at present found in slips, pamphlets, newspaper files, etc., and no little trouble is often encountered in getting at the exact statutes of Alexandria from the fact that laws are being repealed or altered all the time. It is hoped Mr. Harrison's resolution will not be allowed to sleep the sleep of death by the committee on general laws to whom it was committed.

AN ASTONISHING ADMISSION

Editorially, yesterday afternoon, the Washington Star made an astonishing admission. In effect it said that in the event of the defeat of Mr. Wilson the Republicans will proceed immediately to a revision of the Underwood tariff bill; that Republicans will not be willing to accept information from the President's non-partisan tariff board, but that each legislator will rather prefer information gathered from his own sources.

Ye gods and little fishes! As if we didn't know these sources of information to which Republican law-makers hie themselves. We can picture Bois Penrose in consultation with certain steel manufacturers; Henry Cabot Lodge listening to various gentlemen of the woollen industries of Massachusetts; Sherman, of Illinois, smiling obsequously under the fire of orders from certain packers and others that we wot of. But why continue? 'Tis an alluring prospect thus injured up for us by the Star's slip of the pencil.

AT WAR WITH ITSELF.

(Richmond Times-Dispatch)

Trades unionism is fighting, not for itself, but against itself, in the movement to inaugurate a sympathetic strike in New York to-morrow. The unions which violate a solemn contract with employes, voluntarily entered into and enjoyed, are destroying public sympathy and public confidence.

The very principle of collective bargaining, vital to successful trades unionism, is at stake, because the country can have no respect for contracts one party to which ignores and defies them. If a union is under no obligation to observe its promises, these promises have no value. To declare a sympathetic strike against employers who have no connection with the original controversy and "let the public go hungry, because it improves digestion," will do unionism more injury than possibly could be inflicted by its bitterest foes.

A sympathetic strike of the sort projected in New York is war on society—and society, if it is fit to survive, will find means of protecting itself against the onslaught.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Throughout the State.

Richmond police are working on the theory that Randolph Taylor, colored, who died Monday at the Virginia hospital, was stabbed with an ice pick by a woman. When taken to the hospital Taylor declared that while delivering ice he had backed against a long sharp nail on the wall of a hall. Post-mortem examination by Dr. Taylor, the city coroner, determined that the man was stabbed, probably with an ice pick.

As a result of falling into a well at the home of her parents in Nottoway county, near Burkeville, four-year old Lucille Coleman died at Stuart Circle hospital, Richmond, yesterday morning, Suffering from a severe fracture of the skull, the child was brought to Richmond Monday night.

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for seven years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

YOUNG WIFE LOCATED

Mrs. Marcia Duryea, Wife of a Soldier at Camp Ordway, is in Georgetown.

Mrs. Marcia Duryea Deahl, who left her home at Berryville, Clarke county, on a bicycle Saturday morning, presumably to visit her husband H. Theodore Deahl, who is with the District of Columbia national guard at Camp Ordway, was located by the Washington police in Georgetown this morning.

The young woman engaged a room at 3223 N street northwest. Through a policeman her husband was notified.

When Deahl learned that his wife, who is 19 years old, had left home Saturday morning he became uneasy for her safety and asked the police of Washington and Alexandria and nearby towns to watch out for her.

When she did not arrive here Monday or yesterday he feared that some accident had befallen her on the long journey.

When Deahl came to Washington several months ago to answer the call for the militia he left his wife with his mother at Berryville.

She is fond of bicycle riding, and is said to be a member of the Duryea family of New York. She met Deahl, it is said, while a summer boarder at Berryville and they were married a little more than a year ago.

Both Boards of the City Council last night adopted a resolution announcing their purpose to aid in every manner possible the efforts being made by Congressman Carlin and other public-spirited Alexandrians to induce the United States Government to avail itself of the model site for the new armor factory offered by our city. Disciples to Send Evangelist Stancill to Begin Work For New Local Church

Arrangements have been completed for the opening in the old First Presbyterian Church, on the evening of Thursday, October 5, of a series of a series of evangelistic services under the auspices of the Christian (Disciples) churches of the District of Columbia and Maryland. The Rev. Robert W. Stancill, an evangelist widely and favorably known throughout the West and South, will conduct the services. No definite time has yet been set for their continuation. The primary object of the meetings is to establish a Christian church in Alexandria and it is considered likely that Mr. Stancill will continue here until a congregation of sufficient strength to engage the services of a regular pastor shall have been established.

Mr. Stancill is a graduate of the College of the Bible, of Lexington, Ky. He has conducted revivals in New York state, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, and North Carolina. He was for two years State evangelist of his denomination for North Carolina. He has also held pastorates in Troy, N. Y., Winston-Salem, N. C., Hampton, Va., and Fostoria, Ohio. His work has been uniformly successful and he is reputed to be a profound student of the Bible. Very recently Mr. Stancill moved to Washington, in which city he lives at 2706 Ontario Road. He expects to make this his permanent home.

Mr. Stancill has attended a number of the Gypsy Smith, jr., meetings and says that among those who have gone forward have been those who have a preference for the Christian church, but who have not so signified because of the lack of such a church here. He asks that those who may care to affiliate themselves with the proposed new denomination will so state on the cards given out for that purpose.

Mr. Stancill will be assisted actively in the work here by prominent laymen and also a number of the pastors of the Washington Christian Churches.
